Analysis of the Feedback

145 teachers took part in this data collection, out of which 66% were female and 34 % male. 93% of the teachers had the opinion that the design of the courses matches the interest of the learners. 91% of them believed that credits allotted and the teaching hours are well balanced. But only 79% of them felt that the curriculum offered meets the global standards of education. 90% of them believe that the curriculum is updated periodically and the teaching methodologies employed are suitable. But only 86% of the teachers feel that there is a good balance between theory and application in the curriculum. They feel that there is scope for research and training. But about 22% of the teachers did not feel that the curriculum met the demands of the job market.

Action Taken Report

Overall, the teachers had a good opinion about the curriculum framed by the Manonmaniam Sundaranar University. They felt that the design of the courses matches the interest of the learners and there is a good balance between theory and application in the curriculum. They also feel that that the credits allotted and the teaching hours are well balanced. But a good number of teachers did not feel that the curriculum met the demands of the job market. The same opinion was received in the feedback given by other stakeholders also. It was decided to ask the departments to give more focus on the development of skills of the learners. Hence it was suggested to conduct more skill oriented and capacity building programmes for students
